

Brachycephalic Obstructive Airway Syndrome (BOAS) Screening Form

Please fill out this questionnaire to help your veterinarian screen your pet for BOAS. BOAS is a common condition in pets with shortened muzzles. Proactive screening for this condition helps your veterinarian suggest early interventions to keep your pet feeling their best.

Does your pet snore while sleeping?

☐ Always ☐ Often ☐ Sometimes ☐ Never

Does your pet cough up foamy saliva?

☐ Always ☐ Often ☐ Sometimes ☐ Never

Is your pet a noisy breather?

☐ Always ☐ Often ☐ Sometimes ☐ Never

Does your pet faint?

☐ Always ☐ Often ☐ Sometimes ☐ Never

Does your pet ever gag while swallowing?

☐ Always ☐ Often ☐ Sometimes ☐ Never

Does your pet have a blue tinge to their tongue and gums?

☐ Always ☐ Often ☐ Sometimes ☐ Never

Does your pet regurgitate or vomit?

☐ Always ☐ Often ☐ Sometimes ☐ Never

Has your pet's bark or meow changed, or do they ever lose their voice?

☐ Always ☐ Often ☐ Sometimes ☐ Never

Is your pet resistant to exercise?

☐ Always ☐ Often ☐ Sometimes ☐ Never

Is your pet especially sensitive to heat?

☐ Always ☐ Often ☐ Sometimes ☐ Never

Have you observed your pet breathing heavily, including chest and stomach heaving?

☐ Always ☐ Often ☐ Sometimes ☐ Never

Has your pet experienced significant weight gain?

☐ Always ☐ Often ☐ Sometimes ☐ Never

Does your pet have difficulty sleeping, or do they prop their head up while resting?

☐ Always ☐ Often ☐ Sometimes ☐ Never

Please share any additional symptoms that you wish to speak to the veterinarian about: